YOU LEAD CORPORATE INNOVATION

The startup that will change your business already exists. It just hasn't pitched yet.

Stan, your AI Corporate Developer, reviews every company on your market every night, keeps the startups that would genuinely serve your business units and writes down why he discarded the rest. You keep the one job that matters: deciding which to track, pilot, fund or acquire. No waiting for the annual radar or the next demo day.

- Your first 10 startups from nothing but your group's website
- Free trial, no credit card
- A human Corporate Developer tunes Stan with you

Fictional example, to show the format

YOUR WEEK

Everyone pitches you startups. Nobody sorts them.

Your innovation team is a handful of people. Yet it must know every startup in your markets and answer every BU.

Monday, 8:30 am

A BU asks "who does this?"

The head of the Logistics BU needs a traceability solution to pilot before the summer. She wants three names by Friday. You have two hundred decks in your inbox, and no way of telling which ones hold up.

Tuesday, demo day

The startups everyone sees

Twelve five-minute pitches, three hundred guests, and every large group in your sector in the room. The startups you discover, your competitors discover at the very same minute.

Thursday, 7:45 am

The one a rival backed

The morning news tells you your main competitor has just taken a stake in a startup in your sector. You had never come across it. Yet it had been hiring for a year.

ExCo meeting

"Who could disrupt our business?"

The ExCo asks which startups threaten the core business. You have January's consultancy radar, stale by spring. Not an answer.

A TYPICAL WEEK

From your whole ecosystem to 1 to 3 decisions

YOUR MARKET	STAN	US	YOU
~3,000	~245	~15	1 to 3
relevant companies, and new ones every day	screened every week, ~15 kept	analysed and checked, with a memo	decisions a week: YES or NO

Averages measured across our first 10 clients: Stan eliminates 94% of the work before it reaches your team.

WHAT IS AT STAKE

With startups, a large group rarely loses on resources. It loses on timing.

01

The best startups pick their corporate partners early.

Before their round, before the demo day, before they show up in databases. The group that has known them since their first hires talks to them directly; the one waiting for the conference arrives after a competitor.

02

Your team cannot read every deck that lands in its inbox.

A handful of people, a dozen BUs, and procurement and legal to win over for every POC. The sorting has to be done before it reaches your desk.

03

A brilliant startup is useless without a use case.

A startup is judged by what it brings to one of your BUs: a problem solved, a cost avoided, a market opened. Not by how slick its pitch is. That is the reasoning Stan applies to every company.

HOW PROPLACE ANSWERS

What Stan does for you, every night

On the left, what you need. In the middle, Stan's work. On the right, what you get.

WHAT YOU NEED →	WHAT STAN DOES →	WHAT YOU GET
Know who really exists on your themes	He derives your themes from your group's website, then queries 22 sourcing engines: hiring, fundraises, published code, press, new web domains.	✓ A map of your ecosystem that fills in every day: about 3,000 relevant companies on average.
Only look at what serves a BU	He screens every startup against your use cases: MATCH or NO MATCH, with a written reason for every one he discards.	✓ 1 to 3 decisions a week, each with its memo. Not two hundred decks.
Choose the right kind of relationship	He assesses the value to the BU, maturity, team, technology and risks in a detailed investment memo.	✓ A reasoned case for your ExCo: track, pilot, fund or acquire.
Get there before your rivals	For every startup on watch, he tracks hiring, rounds and launches, and alerts you at the first milestone.	✓ The right moment to pilot or invest, before your rivals.
Get all the way to signing	He drafts the founder outreach and follow-ups, then the NDA, term sheet and due diligence checklist.	✓ One thread from first contact to signing, with your legal and procurement teams.

YOUR MODE: CORPORATE VENTURE

What Stan looks at for you

Stan is not looking for "the startups of the moment". He is looking for the ones that matter to one of your BUs.

A concrete use case

The problem it would solve for one of your business units, named in black and white in the memo.

Stage and traction

Stage, customers, recurring revenue, burn: enough to judge a POC or an investment.

Founders and track record

Their experience of your sector, how they execute, and whether they can deliver for a large account.

Technical edge

What makes it hard to copy: proprietary data, integrations, patents, a head start.

The right relationship

POC, partnership, stake or buyout: the one that fits.

Signals, week after week

Hiring, fundraises, launches: Stan follows the startups on watch and alerts you at every milestone.

WHAT YOU GET

Decisions, not a radar

The instant memo
For every startup kept: what it does, why it matters to one of your BUs, the verdict.

The detailed investment memo
Use case, maturity, team, technology, risks and the questions to ask the founder.

The Monday review
Your pending decisions, Stan's, and the news of your market and competitors: rounds, acquisitions.

Milestone alerts
Stan tells you when a startup on watch raises, launches or hires.

The outreach message
Written for the founder, with follow-ups tracked.

NDA and term sheet
Drafted from the file, with the due diligence checklist, for your lawyers.
