YOU INVEST AT PRE-SEED AND SEED

Your next investment doesn't have a deck yet. It already has a domain name.

Stan, your AI Corporate Developer, reviews every startup in your market every night, including the ones that haven't announced anything yet. He keeps the ones that fit your thesis and writes down why he passed on the rest. You keep the first call and the decision. No extra analyst, no scout programme.

- Your first 10 startups from nothing but your fund's website
- Free trial, no credit card
- A human Corporate Developer tunes Stan with you

Fictional example, to show the format

YOUR WEEK

Your deal flow looks like your inbox, not your thesis.

The best founders don't send decks: they get introduced. Meanwhile, you sort the inbox between first calls.

Sunday, 10 pm

Thirty off-thesis decks

The weekend filled up the deals@ inbox: a consumer marketplace, a Series A dressed up as a seed, a company outside your geography. You go through them anyway, just in case.

Tuesday, 6 pm

The round announced this morning

A startup you would have backed in a heartbeat announces its seed on LinkedIn. The round closed six weeks ago. Another fund got the intro through one of the founder's former colleagues.

Thursday, 11 am

One first call too many

Forty-five minutes with a likeable founder. Ten minutes in, you knew: too early, off-thesis, wrong market. The deck didn't say so. Three more are booked before Friday.

Partners' meeting

"Who else is building this?"

A partner asks what else is out there. You have three names, all seen by the same scouts and angels. Not a map.

A TYPICAL WEEK

From your whole market to 1 to 3 decisions

YOUR MARKET	STAN	US	YOU
~3,000	~245	~15	1 to 3
relevant companies, and new ones every day	screened every week, ~15 kept	analysed and checked, with a memo	decisions a week: YES or NO, which calibrate Stan

Averages measured across our first 10 clients: Stan eliminates 94% of the work before it reaches your calendar.

WHAT IS AT STAKE

At seed, you rarely lose a deal on valuation. You lose it on timing.

01

The best founders are met before they have a deck.

When they leave a scale-up, incorporate, push a first repo. Whoever has known them for six months gets a seat in the round; whoever waits for the intro shows up when it is already oversubscribed.

02

Your time is the scarcest resource in the fund.

Every first call that goes nowhere is time taken from your portfolio, your LPs and the founders who matter. The sorting has to happen before your calendar fills up.

03

An off-thesis deal stays off-thesis at any price.

An investment is judged by what it brings to your thesis and your portfolio: market, team, timing. Not by the buzz around the round. That is the reasoning Stan applies to every startup.

HOW PROPLACE ANSWERS

What Stan does for you, every night

On the left, what you need. In the middle, Stan's work. On the right, what you get.

WHAT YOU NEED →	WHAT STAN DOES →	WHAT YOU GET
See startups before they raise	He derives your thesis from your website and your portfolio, then queries 22 engines: new domains, company filings, GitHub, Show HN, LinkedIn.	Your market, mapped every day: about 3,000 relevant companies on average, some still unknown.
Only see what fits the thesis	He screens every startup against your thesis, inbound decks included: MATCH or NO MATCH, with a written reason for every pass.	1 to 3 decisions a week, each with its memo. Not forty decks.
Walk into the first call prepared	He assesses team, market, "why now" and defensibility in a detailed investment memo, with the questions to ask the founder.	A sharper first call, and a reasoned case for the partners' meeting.
Get in before the round	For every startup you validate, he drafts the message to the founder and tracks the follow-ups.	A direct line to the founder, before the round circulates.
Get all the way to closing	He prepares the term sheet from the file, then a due diligence checklist and a 100-day plan.	One thread all the way to closing with your lawyers, then portfolio follow-up.

YOUR MODE: PRE-SEED & SEED VC

What Stan looks at for you

Stan isn't looking for "hot startups". He is looking for the ones your thesis calls for, as early as possible.

Team–thesis fit
Why this team, on this problem: the link between the founders' background and your thesis.

Founder background
What they have already built, shipped or sold, and the scale-up where they learned the trade.

Pre-revenue welcome
No revenue yet? Stan judges the team, the product and the signals, not ARR that doesn't exist yet.

Signals and trajectory
GitHub contributors, hiring, first customers; then the ARR trajectory as soon as there is one.

Why now
What makes this product possible today, and not three years ago.

Insight and defensibility
What the team understood before everyone else, and what stops a better-funded rival from copying it.

WHAT YOU GET

Decisions, not lists

The instant memo
For every startup kept: what it does, why it fits your thesis, the verdict.

The detailed investment memo
Team, market, "why now", risks and the questions to ask the founder on the first call.

The Monday review
The week's calibration, your pending decisions, Stan's decisions, and the news on your thesis: rounds, acquisitions, new entrants.

The outreach message
Written for every founder you validate, with follow-ups tracked.

The term sheet
Prepared from the file, for your lawyers to approve.

The 100-day plan
The round's commitments turned into milestones, owners and deadlines.

THE ALTERNATIVES

Yes · Partly · No

What you do today, and what it costs you

WHAT MATTERS	Proplace	Inbound and network	Databases	Analysts and scouts
Covers your whole market	✓ Every night, 22 engines	◐ What gets sent or introduced	◐ What is already listed	◐ Each scout's own circle
Reasons from your thesis	✓ Your thesis drives the screening	✗ You sort whatever lands	✗ Filters, not a thesis	◐ Depends on each brief
Says why a startup is passed on	✓ A written reason for each one	✗ Rarely, for lack of time	✗ Never	◐ Sometimes, on a call
Gets you in before the round	✓ New domains, filings, repos	✗ The round is already out	◐ If the signal is already indexed	◐ If they know the founder
Cost	✓ Free trial, then an annual plan	✗ Partner hours on first calls	◐ Annual licence per seat	◐ Salaries, or a slice of carry ⓘ Proplace replaces neither your network nor your judgment: intros from your founders and angels are still the best ones. Stan covers the rest of the market, every night.

GO FURTHER, FOR FREE

What's next?

Three ways to start today

The Proplace sheet (PDF) · This page, online

Scan to launch your deal flow

1 Your first 10 startups
Enter your fund's website: Stan derives your thesis from your site and your portfolio, then returns your first ten startups, each with its reason.

Get my startups →

2 Your thesis, written by Stan
Before the first startup, Stan shows you the thesis he understood from your fund. You correct it in one sentence; it then drives all the screening.

See my thesis →

3 A verdict on this week's inbound decks
Once signed up, paste a startup's website, plus its deck as a PDF and the founder's LinkedIn if you have them: an instant MATCH or NO MATCH memo, 3 credits a day.

Have a deck analysed →

General information, not investment advice.